Citizens of New Palestine Oppose New School Building Now.

After a long discussion in the offices itizens of New Palestine were told that before a new schoolhouse at that town is erected the state board of health and the state superintendent of public in-struction will confer to determine whether the state board of health shall reopen a report made on the condition of a school building, condemned at New Palestine as being unsaffrary and possibly unsafe for children, and an effort may be made to compel Scott Brandenburg, trustee of Sugar Creek township, Hancock county to force the building. Hancock county, to forego the building of the new school, which will cost $60,000.

Governor Goodrich reiterated his for mer announcement that he believed all public work not absolutely necessary should be abandoned during the present war era. The history of the fight at New Palestine over the proposed new school was told by Charles Tyndall, a Greenfield attorney. The Governor said that if it is found that the safety of the lives of the children of the school is at stake, then no objection should be interposed, but that if the building could be used for school purposes, without other than reasonable inconvenience at such a time, he believed that the trustee should be prevented from expending such a sum of money now. uld be abandoned during the WASHINGTON, February 8 .- Special efforts were made today by the railroad administration to send empty box cars westward to haul the great accumulation of soft corn in the middle west to elevators and milling points.

The need for speedy transportation was urged on railroad officials by grain interests, which showed that between 39 and 49 per cent. of corn this year contains so much moisture it will spoil quickly unless hastened to elevators and dried.

Reports show that nearly 1,000,000 bush-
